Muroc Model Masters Fall Family Picnic

By Luis Figueroa V.P.

On Saturday, 13 Oct 2012, the Muroc Model Masters held their Fall Family Picnic. You couldn't ask for better weather to have a picnic and do some flying. Some of the pictures are posted to our website so be sure to take a look at them.

Notice how our cook loved to have his picture taken. Thanks John for doing the cooking so I could fly. To change things a bit and not have to hear from me about what a good time I had; I would like for folks that attended the picnic to submit an email to our webmaster and let us know what you thought about the picnic. I would like to thank all that attended and helped to support us with making the day a success. Also a representative of Team HeliProz attended the cookout – Muroc Model Masters member Wes Parmeter.

Next Meeting – 13 Nov, 2012 – Fox Field

There was one casualty – Bob Smith's Telemaster; Old Blue. He was a good old trainer – RIP.

Dynam F4U Corsair

This is the New Dynam F4U Corsair available at Nitroplanes.com. Like all Dynam products, the quality is really nice and the value is outstanding! Last week, this Corsair sold for $101 with Nitroplanes 15% discount on all new products. Outstanding deal! What a great way to introduce pilots to scale models at a low price.

I spent time painting/detailing this model and it really made a difference for me. The cockpit was painted black, pilot's face was painted skin tone. Painted the prop and added FMS decals. The only addition to the model was applying hinge tape to the control surface hinge points. My elevator was split on one side. Hinge tape is cheap assurance! This Corsair flies on a 14.8V 2200mAh battery but can easily take a 2650mAh pack.

Fix for Slipping Propeller

If you notice that your propeller has a tendency to slip while turning, try putting some low grit sandpaper between your prop and your back plate. 80 grit works great.
